

Dinner Marks Close Of Mo. Bay Regatta

Governor, Guest of Honour at Happy Function, Hopes Business People Will Encourage Clerks To Take Up Yachting; Success of Sport Of Sailing Is Seen.

On Saturday evening last the Commodore and members of the Montego Bay Yacht Club and the "Boys' Club" Bathing Club entertained yachting men and women at dinner at the Green Room Hotel. The guests of Honour being H. E. St. Andrew, Governor, and Lady Richards.

The Regatta this year at Montego Bay has been by far the largest and the most successful. The Yacht Club displaying hospitality which would be hard to equal anywhere. The opportunity of showing their appreciation to their former yachtsmen who had come over to sail against them.

Many speeches were made in which His Excellency, Commodore of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club and business houses and business men should encourage their clerks to take up yachting and their financially in accomplishing this.

Fully eighty sat down to dinner, prominent among those being Hon. F. M. and Mrs. Kerr Jarrett, Hon. and Mrs. A. B. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hardie, Major and Mrs. A. R. Turner, Dr. O. D. F. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Launce Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Meyer of the "Albatross" Club, and Miss Gramhams of the Yawl "Caplin". Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fletcher, Miss Hazel Fletcher, Mr. Boyd Morales and many others.

It was a most enjoyable dinner and it was a pleasure to see so many of the old yachtsmen who had come over to sail against them.

The Regatta this year at Montego Bay has been by far the largest and the most successful. The Yacht Club displaying hospitality which would be hard to equal anywhere. The opportunity of showing their appreciation to their former yachtsmen who had come over to sail against them.

Many speeches were made in which His Excellency, Commodore of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club and business houses and business men should encourage their clerks to take up yachting and their financially in accomplishing this.

Fully eighty sat down to dinner, prominent among those being Hon. F. M. and Mrs. Kerr Jarrett, Hon. and Mrs. A. B. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hardie, Major and Mrs. A. R. Turner, Dr. O. D. F. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Launce Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Meyer of the "Albatross" Club, and Miss Gramhams of the Yawl "Caplin". Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fletcher, Miss Hazel Fletcher, Mr. Boyd Morales and many others.

That it would be a pleasure to see so many of the old yachtsmen who had come over to sail against them.

The Regatta this year at Montego Bay has been by far the largest and the most successful. The Yacht Club displaying hospitality which would be hard to equal anywhere. The opportunity of showing their appreciation to their former yachtsmen who had come over to sail against them.

Many speeches were made in which His Excellency, Commodore of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club and business houses and business men should encourage their clerks to take up yachting and their financially in accomplishing this.

Fully eighty sat down to dinner, prominent among those being Hon. F. M. and Mrs. Kerr Jarrett, Hon. and Mrs. A. B. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hardie, Major and Mrs. A. R. Turner, Dr. O. D. F. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Launce Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Meyer of the "Albatross" Club, and Miss Gramhams of the Yawl "Caplin". Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fletcher, Miss Hazel Fletcher, Mr. Boyd Morales and many others.

Wed In Montego Bay

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tulloch, who were married in Montego Bay on Thursday last. The bride was Miss Iris Gochin, of Montego Bay.

"Beacon" trophy for the big "all-sons" race and Fred L. Myers and Sons for the "Myers" cup for island cruises.

Mr. Fletcher said that as he knew that His Excellency was a keen yachtsman, he hoped that some day, they would have the pleasure of having him skipper a boat sailing in a Montego Bay Regatta.

He closed by again thanking His Excellency and Lady Richards for accepting their invitation and asked the company to rise and drink a toast to H. E. the Commodore of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club and to Lady Richards, his charming and gracious wife.

TEAM RACES

Yachting was one of the healthiest of sports and he looked forward to the day when there would be no more team racing. He even went as far as saying that he could picture in his mind's eye the rivalry between the Chamber of Commerce, the Law Society, the Elected Members Association and the Government.

His Excellency thought that it would be well for the Government in place of the Veterinary Examination in the Civil Service Examination a thorough knowledge of sailing.

Yachting was not a rich man's hobby, he said, for it was only recently that he had seen a soldier in the eyes of the navy by designing a gunboat for a cost of approximately £50 that had been built for yachting had been a consistent winner.

He would suggest that those present follow the words of the Bible in that they should sell all that they had and buy themselves a yachting outfit. He said that he would give it to the poor, they should first buy a yacht.

Yachting would bring back health to those who thought they had lost it and he hoped that the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club would soon again enjoy the yachting prominence they once enjoyed.

Referring to the guests as habitués, he said this had been their fourth year at Montego Bay and they were really more than mere guests.

Montego Bay was growing on the people of the other parts of the island and he had heard of Nipples. "See Nipples and die" as said Montego Bay he was saying "Montego Bay is Live".

There, however, was a warm welcome which they aimed to keep for their guests.

It concluded a pleasure to have the visiting yachtsmen with them and he felt very proud of them for knowing what yachting favoured a choice brand of expressions, somewhat like a well-known brand of cigars. He said they used freely when at sea, he was more than pleased to pick up his hat and himself had gone cruising among them.

GUESTS TOASTED

Mr. Kerr Jarrett proposed the health of the guests. He said it was rather unkind to put him after so able a speaker as His Excellency.

Referring to the guests as habitués, he said this had been their fourth year at Montego Bay and they were really more than mere guests.

Montego Bay was growing on the people of the other parts of the island and he had heard of Nipples. "See Nipples and die" as said Montego Bay he was saying "Montego Bay is Live".

There, however, was a warm welcome which they aimed to keep for their guests.

It concluded a pleasure to have the visiting yachtsmen with them and he felt very proud of them for knowing what yachting favoured a choice brand of expressions, somewhat like a well-known brand of cigars. He said they used freely when at sea, he was more than pleased to pick up his hat and himself had gone cruising among them.

He paid tribute to all those of the visitors who had shown unfailing interest in helping to organize the Regatta and for their gallantry in accepting their services and competition had been greatly appreciated.

Mr. Kerr Jarrett said that he hoped that they would welcome His Excellency and Lady Richards to come to the Montego Bay Regatta.

Mr. D. F. Robertson, Vice Commodore of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club in his usual witty and humorous way thanked Mr. Jarrett. He said that to him the Montego Bay regatta was a unique social affair for there was a grand social for the ladies who had taken such an active part and thanked them for the pleasant time they had been afforded.

Mr. G. Gramhams, of the yacht Caplin also spoke. In thanking Mr. Kerr Jarrett he said that he was really a deep sea cruising yachtsman and not a racing man. He and his daughter were on their cruise when they had heard so much of Jamaica, they had decided to come here. He said that he had enjoyed this social hospitality. Both the R.J.Y.C. and the M.B.Y.C. had been marvellous and he was sure that he never forgot the island and the people they had met for many a year.

HOME LIFE

What we needed in Jamaica, continued His Lordship, was happy home life. He said that if Jesus would have us, happy, humble and loving.

Women were now getting their equality with men throughout the Christian world, and he was appealing to all women to help the carrying out of Christ's words, remembering always that Christ died for them.

"Thinking of home lives," continued the Bishop, "ask yourself if you are making it like home life Jesus would like it to be, where God is honoured."

He said that he was against anything too much for the things of the world, and deprecated the fact that he did not think enough of God. His Lordship's charge was that we should resolve to cultivate our home lives, that we should love the Lord and a greater loyalty to him who died to save the world.

In concluding, he said: "I am sure that when the time of our departure comes we may catch the spirit of the Lord who died for us, by my hear us say 'Father into Thine hands I commend my spirit.'"

FOR THE LADIES

In proposing the health of the Ladies, Mr. Edmund Hart said that he had been unfairly dealt with by Mr. Fletcher but that morning to make the speech and knowing that he was such a misunderstood man, he really should have asked someone else.

In a fit of blue funk, he had rushed home and searched his library for some good definitions of the words Lady and Woman. He had finally resorted to the dictionary and found where Eve had been created from one of Adam's ribs and he had come to the conclusion that she had been made from man's rib to be equal or the same as him, and also to be near him.

Mr. Hart said he was sure that Dr. Robertson would have handled this subject better, but he thought he was indeed pleased to see this year, ladies had attended the dinner and he hoped that they would be present at future occasions.

He was indeed pleased that Lady Richards, the first lady of the land was with them and hoped that he would return for many other years to come. He said that he was into a big international affair.

Mr. H. B. Lowe replied on behalf of the Ladies. He said that he had been unfairly dealt with by Mr. Fletcher but that morning to make the speech and knowing that he was such a misunderstood man, he really should have asked someone else.

In a fit of blue funk, he had rushed home and searched his library for some good definitions of the words Lady and Woman. He had finally resorted to the dictionary and found where Eve had been created from one of Adam's ribs and he had come to the conclusion that she had been made from man's rib to be equal or the same as him, and also to be near him.

Mr. Hart said he was sure that Dr. Robertson would have handled this subject better, but he thought he was indeed pleased to see this year, ladies had attended the dinner and he hoped that they would be present at future occasions.

As providing the boats for the men to use.

Yachting was one of the healthiest of sports and he looked forward to the day when there would be no more team racing. He even went as far as saying that he could picture in his mind's eye the rivalry between the Chamber of Commerce, the Law Society, the Elected Members Association and the Government.

His Excellency thought that it would be well for the Government in place of the Veterinary Examination in the Civil Service Examination a thorough knowledge of sailing.

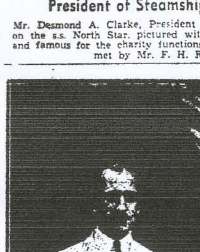

Yachting was not a rich man's hobby, he said, for it was only recently that he had seen a soldier in the eyes of the navy by designing a gunboat for a cost of approximately £50 that had been built for yachting had been a consistent winner.

He would suggest that those present follow the words of the Bible in that they should sell all that they had and buy themselves a yachting outfit. He said that he would give it to the poor, they should first buy a yacht.

Yachting would bring back health to those who thought they had lost it and he hoped that the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club would soon again enjoy the yachting prominence they once enjoyed.

President of Steamship

Mr. Desmond A. Clarke, President of the S.S. North Star, pictured with and famous for the charity functions met by Mr. F. H. H.

At Myrtle Bank Mr. Desmond Clarke, Chairman of the Tourist

COMMISSIONERS AND

At Myrtle Bank Mr. Desmond Clarke, Chairman of the Tourist

HOME-LIFE THEME

OF BISHOP'S GOOD FRIDAY DISCOURSE

(FROM OUR OWN Correspondent)

GOOD FRIDAY, April 22nd, 1938. It is a privilege to be sitting by the side of the St. James Church—by a large congregation of the customary three hours service.

The Rt. Rev. W. G. Hardie, Lord of Jamaica conducted the service.

In the course of his sermons His Lordship said that the trouble with the world today was that we were too unfortifying. Jesus who came to be our teacher and our saviour, had said that the Son of Man spoke these words when he was nailed to the Cross: "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

The Bishop dealt at some length with the meaning of our Lord's words "Today shall thou be with me in paradise" and urged that we should strive to enter paradise as a reward for obeying the Lord's commandments.

Referring to the terrors of hell, His Lordship wondered how many in the congregation brought enough of what hell did not think enough of God. His Lordship's charge was that we should resolve to cultivate our home lives, that we should love the Lord and a greater loyalty to him who died to save the world.

HOME LIFE

What we needed in Jamaica, continued His Lordship, was happy home life. He said that if Jesus would have us, happy, humble and loving.

Women were now getting their equality with men throughout the Christian world, and he was appealing to all women to help the carrying out of Christ's words, remembering always that Christ died for them.

"Thinking of home lives," continued the Bishop, "ask yourself if you are making it like home life Jesus would like it to be, where God is honoured."

He said that he was against anything too much for the things of the world, and deprecated the fact that he did not think enough of God. His Lordship's charge was that we should resolve to cultivate our home lives, that we should love the Lord and a greater loyalty to him who died to save the world.

In concluding, he said: "I am sure that when the time of our departure comes we may catch the spirit of the Lord who died for us, by my hear us say 'Father into Thine hands I commend my spirit.'"

Kingston yachtsmen looked forward to the Regatta and they proposed a vote of thanks to the members of the R.J.Y.C. who had co-operated magnificently in bringing about the forming of the Montego Bay Yacht Club.

They said that they were glad to see the Lord and a greater loyalty to him who died to save the world.

In concluding, he said: "I am sure that when the time of our departure comes we may catch the spirit of the Lord who died for us, by my hear us say 'Father into Thine hands I commend my spirit.'"

Kingston yachtsmen looked forward to the Regatta and they proposed a vote of thanks to the members of the R.J.Y.C. who had co-operated magnificently in bringing about the forming of the Montego Bay Yacht Club.

They said that they were glad to see the Lord and a greater loyalty to him who died to save the world.

In concluding, he said: "I am sure that when the time of our departure comes we may catch the spirit of the Lord who died for us, by my hear us say 'Father into Thine hands I commend my spirit.'"

Is Your Throat Clogged Up With a Germ-laden Cough?

You may speak of it as only "a slight cold" but just the same you realize it is spreading downwards. Colds that infect the bronchial tubes, if not controlled, may later on attack the lungs. We all know that lung-colds mean a serious prolonged illness. Before you do catch any deeper, catch it out with Polson's Cough Syrup. Remember, an excess of mucus in the head or throat soon blocks the nasal passages, and leads to the rapid spread of infection. Polson's Cough Syrup clears the throat and breathing organs of all surplus of germ-infected mucus it puts you on the sure road to good health.

Why not enjoy freedom from nasty colds and feel 100% fit—this you can do by using Polson's Cough Syrup.

No matter how "stuffed-up" you may be with a cold, a cough, or bronchitis—you will get the relief you desire from Polson's Cough Syrup. It is one of the most successful antitoxins to the common cold yet discovered. Sold by all good chemists.

POLSON'S COUGH SYRUP GETS AT THE CAUSE OF YOUR TROUBLE

BESIDES BEDS
BESIDES BEDS
BESIDES BEDS

that make you SLEEP even when you suffer from insomnia!

that make your room a paradise... make you happy and joyful that give you your money's worth and will last a lifetime

104 Harbour Street
KINGSTON

GOVERNOR REPLIES

His Excellency in replying, said that he was indeed pleased to accept the invitation of the Montego Bay Yacht Club to spend the holiday there, particularly when he knew that there would be a regatta.

He was not going to make much of a speech for one of the ladies present had hinted to him during the course of the day, that she hoped he would not inflict one of his lengthy discourses on them and so.

Since he had been in Montego Bay he had been using what was routine, he was not using up motto for the place but the only one he really thought appropriate was that of a war time poet which was rather a long one, which His Excellency quoted this the opening lines of which were—

"On the cabin roof I lie
Gazing into vacancy,
Kir Arthur said yachting meant much to him, for in his younger days he was an addict of the sport. In his opinion, it was the one pure sport which was left, since the inauguration of the Yacht Racing Association in 1915, there had been only one instance of foul sailing recorded when a Captain had to be censured. He could think of no other sport which could boast of such a record.

"Of course," he added, "there have been many instances of difference of opinion" in regard to facts. These were generally cooled off and settled by the barman with some liquid. He was used to this, he added, for in his daily routine, he was always coming up against such conditions and had to decide as to differences of opinion.

His Excellency said that in yachting, there were three major points to be remembered. 1. to think ahead and catch your opponent on the port tack. 2. to jibe and tack and 3. to do away with rotten gear. He was driving home the latter point as rotten gear was always the most expensive in the long run.

He stressed the point that business men and houses should encourage their clerks to sail and that they should even go as far as providing the boats for the men to use.

Yachting was one of the healthiest of sports and he looked forward to the day when there would be no more team racing. He even went as far as saying that he could picture in his mind's eye the rivalry between the Chamber of Commerce, the Law Society, the Elected Members Association and the Government.

His Excellency thought that it would be well for the Government in place of the Veterinary Examination in the Civil Service Examination a thorough knowledge of sailing.

Yachting was not a rich man's hobby, he said, for it was only recently that he had seen a soldier in the eyes of the navy by designing a gunboat for a cost of approximately £50 that had been built for yachting had been a consistent winner.

He would suggest that those present follow the words of the Bible in that they should sell all that they had and buy themselves a yachting outfit. He said that he would give it to the poor, they should first buy a yacht.

Yachting would bring back health to those who thought they had lost it and he hoped that the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club would soon again enjoy the yachting prominence they once enjoyed.

FOR THE LADIES

In proposing the health of the Ladies, Mr. Edmund Hart said that he had been unfairly dealt with by Mr. Fletcher but that morning to make the speech and knowing that he was such a misunderstood man, he really should have asked someone else.

In a fit of blue funk, he had rushed home and searched his library for some good definitions of the words Lady and Woman. He had finally resorted to the dictionary and found where Eve had been created from one of Adam's ribs and he had come to the conclusion that she had been made from man's rib to be equal or the same as him, and also to be near him.

Mr. Hart said he was sure that Dr. Robertson would have handled this subject better, but he thought he was indeed pleased to see this year, ladies had attended the dinner and he hoped that they would be present at future occasions.

He was indeed pleased that Lady Richards, the first lady of the land was with them and hoped that he would return for many other years to come. He said that he was into a big international affair.

Mr. H. B. Lowe replied on behalf of the Ladies. He said that he had been unfairly dealt with by Mr. Fletcher but that morning to make the speech and knowing that he was such a misunderstood man, he really should have asked someone else.

In a fit of blue funk, he had rushed home and searched his library for some good definitions of the words Lady and Woman. He had finally resorted to the dictionary and found where Eve had been created from one of Adam's ribs and he had come to the conclusion that she had been made from man's rib to be equal or the same as him, and also to be near him.

Mr. Hart said he was sure that Dr. Robertson would have handled this subject better, but he thought he was indeed pleased to see this year, ladies had attended the dinner and he hoped that they would be present at future occasions.